With the present contribution, concerning the three-year period 2010-2012, published on the pages of the December issue of «History of Education & Children's Literature», starts off a specialised bibliographical overview (articles published in journals, monographs, collections of essays, proceedings and textbooks) concerning the studies and research on the history of education published around the world. From 2014, this overview will be annual and will focus exclusively on the scientific publication of the previous year. At the heart of this initiative there are different motivations. One of the main purposes is to offer to the scholars an effective tool for bibliographical updating and, not less relevant, to provide a complete and systematic overview of the studies and research on this field neither limited to the national dimension, nor to the continental one.

In order to create such a work tool, designed in particular for the scholars of history of education and of children's literature, we believed that it was suitable to systematically analyze the catalogues of an outstanding quantity of national and international specialized Publishers (historical studies, social and human sciences, educational sciences), as well as the catalogues of over 200 academic journals belonging to this field or to others related to it, published in the main European countries (Italy, United Kingdom, Russia, Spain, Germany, France, Switzerland, Hungary, Ireland, Holland, Bulgaria, Poland, Sweden, Slovenia, Cyprus, Albania), in the American continent (USA, Canada, Colombia, Venezuela, Chile, Argentina, Brazil) and in other parts of the world (Australia, New Zealand, Hong Kong, Israel and South Africa).

This kind of research is necessarily a work in progress, on account of the sometimes insurmountable difficulties that interfere with any legitimate will of completeness and exhaustiveness in the data retrieval. Despite the increasing boost given to the globalization process by the Internet and the social media, indeed, the web sites of publishers and academic journals (not to mention those of the Universities and of the public and private Research Centres) don't always provide up-to-date and exhaustive information (catalogues, bibliographic cards, indexes of the issues, etc.). Hence the difficulties, sometimes insurmountable, in the acquisition of precise data and certain information about the scientific production in this field concerning specific countries and, consequently, the real need to have available a wide network of in loco collaborators, that is a network of researches and scholars specialized in this field willing to convey «History of Education & Children's Literature» with the most recent and significant publications published in their countries and, if necessary, to complete the sometimes fragmentary and incomplete information obtained through a distance research on the internet.

In the next months, we are willing to devote our energies precisely to the creation and reinforcement of such network of collaborators, aiming at the possibility to make this bibliographical overview a reliable tool, being constantly updated, exploitable by all the scholars and, most of all, able to present the entire spectrum of the international scientific production in the field of the history of education and of children's literature in its complexity and variety.

Lastly, in light of what was said above, we would like to remember that the creation of this international bibliographical overview was possible thanks to the precious contribution offered not only by some HECL collaborators, but also by many other scholars and researchers. In this regard, the editors would like to sincerely thank for their collaboration: María Esther Aguirre Lora (Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México, México), Lejla Almazova (University of Kazan, Russia), *Vitaly G.
