Re: Host a Wildlife-friendly Festival Instead of the Rattlesnake Roundup

Dear Sirs and Madams:

I am writing on behalf of the Center for Biological Diversity to urge you, the sponsors of the annual rattlesnake roundup in Whigham, to stop incentivizing the capture and killing of rattlesnakes at your annual rattlesnake roundup. I have enclosed a petition with signatures from more than 58,000 concerned citizens, who call upon you to change to a wildlife festival where no snakes are killed.

Three years ago, the Evans County Wildlife Club replaced its rattlesnake roundup with a wildlife festival that does not involve the killing of snakes. Rattlesnakes are still a focus of the festival, but their display was for educational, safety, and conservation purposes only. The wildlife festival has been a huge success and generated revenue for the local community without harming snakes. We encourage you to follow the example set by the Evans County Wildlife Club. We sincerely appreciate the positive steps previously announced by the Whigham Roundup, such as the educational program. However, we cannot support your event as long as it includes a hunting contest that incentivizes the collection of native wild snakes.

Rattlesnake roundups are depleting populations of eastern diamondback rattlesnakes: analysis of data from four roundups in the southeastern United States shows a steady decline in the weights of prize-winning eastern diamondbacks and the number collected. This once-common species is being pushed toward extinction not only by hunting pressure but also by habitat loss and road mortality. Scientific studies over the past decade have documented range-wide population declines and significant range contractions, which is why we filed a 2011 petition to protect the eastern diamondback rattlesnake under the Endangered Species Act. In response, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service determined that this snake may deserve a place on the nation's list of endangered and threatened species and has launched a full status review of the eastern diamondback rattlesnake. Your roundup is one of the threats that may prompt the listing of the diamondback under the Endangered Species Act.

We hope that this year's rattlesnake roundup in Whigham will be the last ever that results in dead snakes.

Sincerely,

Collette L. Adkins Giese
Reptile and Amphibian Sr. Staff Attorney

Change Rattlesnake Roundups to Humane Festivals

January 28, 2015

We, the undersigned, are writing to urge you to change the rattlesnake roundup held in your community to a humane festival where snakes are not hunted or killed. Towns such as San Antonio, Florida and Fitzgerald, Georgia have already changed their roundups to successful wildlife festivals that generate income for their communities. We urge you to follow their example and change your roundup to an event where snakes are not collected or slaughtered.
